Comments from the Monarch coaching staff:

Thought we wrestled tough once again. We kind of got lost in all the action and looked up at the end of the tournament to see that we finished in third. That's great, but it felt like we left a little meat on the bone. We had some good performances, but thought we let a few winnable matches get away as well.

Angie Rivera and Yarecze Rodriguez paced us with both reaching the finals and Angie was able to bring home the gold. Giana Garcia and Danielas Salinas both had nice days as well and finished third. Andrea Lupian was a nice surprise placing third from a non-scoring position (her points didn't count toward our team total). I would probably put Andrea Lupian in the same category as Marisol Granados and Addison Ransom in that it feels like they're turning the corner a bit and translating how they practice into matches.

It was also nice to have a meet where most of our girls were able to get some mat time. It's always tough to pinpoint what to work on if we don't see any action in matches so we can give those girls some direction as to what to work on.

We still have a ton of work to do in terms of finishing matches. As the sport gets more advanced, those pinning combinations are going to be harder to come by so when we get something locked up we really need to get better at finishing the match there. We've seen too many times this year where we don't finish the match and the result ends up not going in our favor. We need to get some bigger gas tanks too to not let conditioning play a factor late in matches.

Not much downtime for us - we'll have three practices over Thanksgiving break and host senior night the first Monday back with Audubon, Carroll, and Hinton coming to town.
